What is Corrugated boxes?

Corrugated boxes are made of fluted paperboard sandwiched between two flat liners. They are lightweight, durable, and customizable to various sizes and shapes. Widely used in shipping, storage, and retail industries, corrugated boxes provide cushioning and protection for the contents inside. Corrugated boxes have eco-friendly credentials, as they are produced from recycled materials and can be conveniently recycled once their use is over.

FAQ

1. How do I measure the length, width, and height of my promotional packaging?

With the box open toward you, here is how to get the correct measurements for the inside of the box:

The length is measured from the left to right side of the box.

The width is measured from the front to the back side of the box.

The height is measured from the top to the bottom side of the box.

2. Can you send me samples of your branded packaging?

We can send samples of our recent print orders. Please submit a sample request and we will be in touch so that appropriate branded box samples can be sent.

3. Can you also provide inserts to go with custom olive oil packaging?

Yes, we can produce a wide variety of inserts. These inserts can be produced using regular cardstock or corrugated stock. We can also produce foam inserts that have custom cutouts to fit a product's shape and size for a snug fit.

4. How do I ensure that printed colors and branding accurately represent my products?

Our product boxes feature bespoke printing, branding, and labeling to complement and enhance enclosed products. Custom printing allows for designs that effectively convey the product's identity and brand message, ranging from minimalist to vibrant full-color prints. Additionally, bespoke finishes can be applied to the boxes to align with the product's unique personality.
